

BLOG POST 1

What would happen if your partner/spouse didn't come home tonight?

What would happen if your partner/spouse didn't come home tonight?

Besides the emotional devastation, it might also mean the income they contributed to the house is gone (temporarily, or forever).

It would be like going to the ATM and finding it is out of order or logging onto your online bank account to find the site was unavailable.

What would you do?

How would you pay your bills, long-term debts, cover any medical costs, and support your family when they need it most?

Who would rescue you financially so you could take care of yourself and family emotionally?

That's where a personal insurance policy, can help.

A good personal insurance policy can help cover the cost of living until you can get back on your feet.

Plus, our team will be there to help you sort out the nitty gritty with the insurers so you don't have to deal with it at a time when you have other things on your mind.

We've seen too many families (who never thought a nasty "what-if" would happen to them) end up in financial turmoil that could have been prevented.

During the worst time of their lives, they've had to make painful changes like selling their beloved family home, uprooting kids from their friends and school, relocating to unfamiliar territory and sacrificing all the enjoyable things in life ...all because the bank account ran dry.

How would you feel if you had to make changes of this scale?

Although personal insurance can't turn back time and undo the event that caused your partner/spouse to not make it home, it certainly can remove some of the financial pressure and prevent you from having to make decisions that only make a bad situation worse.

Don't let this happen to you!

Let us show you how insurance can protect your family from the financial havoc that comes from a personal emergency.

Just like keeping that ATM or online bank account up and running even if you are 'out of action' for a while.